What are we learning?

This is a research paper to learn how to write a more compelling comparison between two people in history.

How do I do it?

The first draft is a planning document where I give you an organizing template and you fill in what you will be writing in this template.

	Exceeding	Proficient	Developing	Emerging
You can show why people, places, events and developments are significant (9/10)	You have been able to successfully create a planning document that highlights the three major talking points about these two leaders	There are minor errors in your planning document	There are major errors in your planning document	You have either not completed the document, or there is little evidence of having enough planned to move forward

Planning document for the research essay:

This is the plan for the essay- I am not grading the essay, I am grading the quality of the planning at each stage.

Comparison paragraph 1: what will you talk about that describes their rise to power

Comparison paragraph 2: what will you talk about to do with their military strategies that was unique to them?

Comparison paragraph 2: what will you talk about that describes their ambitions?

Three paragraphs that tell me what you will be talking about in those paragraphs. It will likely take more than a paragraph to fully tell me what you will be discussing for this assignment. It the insight into each man and how those insights compare in each area of the paper.
